

ProductCamp DC is the premiere event for Product Management, Product Marketing, and Product Development professionals to share, learn from, and network with each other.

Called an “unconference,” because there are no admission fees, no pre-planned agenda, and absolutely no sales pitches that are found at a typical conference, your only cost is your participation – bring your ideas, lead a session in your area of expertise, facilitate a roundtable discussion, network, or volunteer. This is a 100% participant driven event! YOU set the agenda, YOU decide what you want to learn, YOU help make it a great event!
